MORE ROOM FOR DEAF AND BLIND

Directors Want New Location For School.

Recommend That Soldier's Home Place Be Used For School and Present School For Soldier's Home and Departments of State—Report of State Board of Charities—Several Charters Issued Yesterday.

Raleigh, Dec. 29.—The report of the superintendent and directors of the North Carolina School for the Blind and Deaf at Raleigh to Governor Kitchin and the General Assembly recommends that the location of the school be changed in order that there may be more room for the children to get exercise needed. The suggestion is made in the recommendations that the present Soldier's Home plant be taken for the school for the blind and that the old soldiers be changed to the main building of the present plant for the school. Then it is suggested that the big fireproof auditorium of the school could be taken for the state library and the insurance and some other departments of the state government could find suitable quarters in the present school buildings. The warning is sounded that the death rate for the past two years among the children of the school has been double the rate for any previous biennial period and the suggestion is boldly made that this may be due to the lack of suitable exercise grounds. The position is taken that the school must sooner or later be moved to more ample grounds and the sooner the better, they say. If there is to be no moving of the school at this time, then the directors insist that there be an appropriation of $50,000 for the purchase of additional ground. They call for an increase from $65,000 to $80,000 in the appropriation for maintenance. Other appropriations needed are $3,500 for additional plumbing; $5,000 for additional furniture and school room appliances; $12,500 for new kitchin and bakery; $3,000 for painting fences and metal ceilings. The school has 380 children enrolled for the past year.

The State Board of Charities in its annual report to the Governor and General Assembly recommends that the directors of the state's prison be constituted a board of parole for the convicts who serve minimum sentences and show merit for consideration, this to have no bearing whatever on the pardoning power of the governor.

The board recommends provision for a $50,000 building for receiving purposes in the treatment of the insane, new cases that show a possibility of recovery to be taken in this building and have the special attention of specialists. The board also wants a special place for the care of idots and another for epilepties. The board endorses the recommendation of the directors of the State hospitals for an increase from $545,000 to $685,750 in appropriation for maintainance of the State hospitals for insane.

There were seven charters issued today for new corporations: The Standard Garage Co., Raeford, Cumberland county, capital $5,000, by J. W. Johnson and others; the Scott Brokerage and Commission Co., Charlotte, capital $50,000 by J. L. Scott and others; the Salisbury Co., Hassell, N. C., capital $50,000, by R. W. Salisbury and others; the Warrenton Electric Light Co., capital $20,000, by W. G. Rogers and others; the Plymouth Light and Ice Co., capital $25,000, by A. L. Owen and others. The W. H. Hampton Sons Co., Plymouth, capital $50,000, by W. H. Hampton and others for mercantile business.

L. M. Hunter, wanted in Charlotte for obtaining money under false pretenses, is being held in jail at Havre deGrace, Maryland, pending the arrival of a Mecklenburg officer, with a requisition from the Governor of North Carolina on the Governor of Maryland for his extradition to answer the charges at Charlotte. The requisition was issued by Governor Kitchin today.

CHORAZIN CHAPTER ROYAL ARCH MASONS

Degree Conferred on Two Candidates At Largely Attended Meeting Last Night—Banquet Followed, a Number of Rousing Speeches by Prominent Masons Being Made.

One of the most largely attended meetings in the history of Chorazin Chapter, No. 13, Royal Arch Masons was held last night at which time the Royal Arch degree was conferred on Messrs. F. P. Hobgood and L. F. Brunt. The work of the degree team was greatly enjoyed.

At 10 o'clock the members repaired to the dining hall, adjoining the lodge room where Caterer W. F. Clegg had prepared a sumptuous repast. The menu consisted of quail on toast, oyster cocktail, oysters, cakes, pickles, celery, coffee, punch and other accessories usually provided at banquets, being served i. Mr. Clegg's best style.

Mr. C. M. Vanstory was toastmaster and the invocation was by Rev. W. R. Ware. Between the courses rousing speeches were made by Judge Jas. E. Boyd, Rev. W. C. Wicker, Col. F. P. Hobgood, Rev. Dr. Ware, Mr. J. Van Lindley, L. W. Hudgins and others. The meeting was a most enthusiastic one and the outlook for an increased membership during the coming year is most encouraging. The chapter is in a flourishing condition.

LIVES IN NORFOLK.

Preston Savage, Who Was Locked Up by Police Monday, Will Be Carried Home Today.

A message was received from Norfolk, Va., last night by Sergeant Jones to the effect that someone would arrive here today to carry to Norfolk Preston Savage, a young white man locked up by Sergeant Jones Monday night. It is evident that the young man is crazy, this being why he was detained by the police.

The young fellow appeared at the passenger station Monday night and at once attempted to appropriate the wife of a Greensboro man, declaring that she was his sweetheart who had promised to meet him at that hour. Sergeant Jones was present and saw that the young fellow was not in his right mind. Further questioning revealed the fact that it would be best to detain him until his people were notified of his whereabouts.

The officer gathered from Savage that his home was in Norfolk and a message was sent to his mother. She was away at the time, but on her return notified the officers that someone would be here today to take the young man home.

GOLF TOURNAMENT.

Successful Contestants, Mr. A. W. McAlister and Mr. F. P. Hobgood.

The finals in the holiday golf tournament were concluded on the club links yesterday afternoon. The survival of the fittest narrowed the final struggle for the much coveted cup offered by the club to Messrs. A. W. McAlister and G. S. Ferguson. The contest between these rivals was very close and exciting, their score being a tie at several stages of the play. The final "put" at the home green showed Mr. McAlister the winner by a small margin, the score being: McAlister 46, Ferguson 52.

The winning of the cup today is the third consecutive time Mr. McAlister has accomplished this feat, thereby giving him permanent possession of the trophy.

In the consolation match with Messrs. F. P. Hobgood and Paul Schenck, contestants, Mr. Hobgood was successful in winning the six golf balls, Mr. Hobgood's score being 50, and that of Mr. Schenck 53.

The next tournament, which will be announced for the near future, will be given by the club to the caddies.

Gross—Stone.

Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the office of Justice of the Peace D. H. Collins Mr. Van Gross and Miss Ida Stone, of Bedford county, Va., were united in marriage, the ceremony being performed by Justice Collins. The wedding was a runaway affair, the parents of the couple objecting to the wedding. They returned home last evening.

Charged With An Affray.

The police yesterday afternoon arrested Clifton Donnell and Will Gwynne on the charge of engaging in an affray. They will be given a hearing in Municipal court this morning.

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI MEET

New Officers Elected Last Night.

The Annual Meeting Last Night Largely Attended and It Was Unanimously Decided To Enter Upon a Work of Greater Usefulness—Executive Committee to Map Out the Work—Delightful Social Session Held.

Between seventy-five and a hundred of the former graduates of the Greensboro High School attended the annual meeting of the Alumni Association in the annex of West Market Street Methodist church last evening, this being the most largely attended as well as the most enthusiatic meeting ever held by the High School alumni.

The meeting was for business and social purposes and it would be hard to tell which feature was most enjoyed, but judging from the spirit in which the business matters were discussed one would conclude that the young people were happiest while considering just how they could make themselves most useful in advancing the interests of the "dear old High School."

President Allan Preyer called the meeting to order and stated in the outset that the principal object was to decide whether the organization was to take up some definite work or disband. After the first speech all idea of disbanding was dismissed and everyone began to map out in his or her mind the best method to pursue. It was finally decided to clothe the executive committee with authority to map out the work of the organization, the members pledging their hearty support to whatever line of work is thought best. The executive committee is to be composed of one member from each graduating class since 1902, each class since that time being represented last night. The following officers were unanimously elected for the ensuing year:

President, Allan Preyer.
Vice President, Miss Johnsie Starr.
Secretary, Ralph Crutchfield.
Treasurer, Arthur Coffin.

Prior to the business session a reception and social session was held, during which the young men and young ladies found ample opportunity to get acquainted with each other, provided they were strangers before. Delightful refreshments were served and the following program was carried out:

Male quartet—Preyer, Hunter, Fry, Alderman.
Recitation—Geulda Elliott.
Violin solo—Sidney Alderman.
Girls' quartet—Preyer, Clary, Elliott, Alderman.
Instrumental solo—Margaret Glenn.
Class songs—entire membership of the classes.

The feature of the social session was an address by Mr. Chas. H. Ireland, who talked most entertainingly of the work of the High School in the past and spoke of the great future before those who had garduated from the school and those who were to graduate as well. He paid a deserved tribute to the work of those who had labored to make the High School what it is today.

Appropriate remarks were made by a number of the alumni.

CUPID CRIPPLES TELEPHONES

So Many Girl Operators Marry That Working Force Is Short.

New York, Dec. 29.—The marriage fever has struck the New York telephone girls, and within the last two days some 200 have embarked on matrimonial seas, resulting in a marked disarrangement of the telephone company's plans.

Last week an increase in wages for the misses of the wire, and also a reduction of the day's work from nine hours to eight, to go into effect at once, was announced. But the coy move made toward home and family by the girls has made it impossible for the company to make the cut in hours at once. By reducing the working day of all operators one hour the company would find itself handicapped by a loss of 7000 hours. To meet this an extra force of girls was put to work learning to be operators, but the company did not count on Dan Cupid taking a hand and stealing away 200 of the experienced girls, and the concessions to the operators have been postponed.

RETURN TO THE REFEREE SYSTEM

Republican Resolutions Amount to This.

So Declares Local Duncan Men—Fine Opportunity to Perpetuate Local Self-Government Clause Passes Through Committee Without Recognition—Duncan Wing Will Be Heard From Later.

The action of the Republican State Executive Committee in passing resolutions referring to the district members of the committee the stationing of the members of each district over their section of the pie counter and then turning around and endorsing the appointment of a number of postmasters was discussed generally by local Republicans yesterday.

The adherents of the Duncan wing of the party openly admitted that Duncan had been given the cold shoulder, there being only two members representing his faction in the committee meeting and these being overruled at every stage of the game. The Duncan men declare that the resolutions, which were intended to add strength to Morehead's endorsements, in cases where Duncan endorses a different man, are nothing more than the referee system so strongly condemned by President Taft and later by Chairman Morehead. On their face the resolutions purport to leave the matter of recommending the applicants from their several districts with local committeemen, but a closer study reveals a clause whereby the State committee can overrule the district members in case they recommend a man who is not of the Morehead persuasion. The Morehead men claim that this clause was inserted to cover cases where the two committeemen from a district cannot agree, but the Duncan forces are of another opinion.

When the Dockery resolution was brought up Congressman Cowles offered an amendment in line with the "local self-government" clause of the State platform, but it was downed before he could explain the value of such an amendment. This amendment would leave to the county committees the matter of recommending who should be postmasters and perpetuate the self-government idea. But, as was contended by Democrats during the last campaign, the Republican leaders are not in favor of local self-government because it takes the power of handling federal patronage from the powers that be and in this case bestows it upon the county executive committees, thus giving the people affected by the appointment the right to say who shall be appointed.

Chairman Morehead and Secretary Grissom appeared greatly satisfied at the result of the meeting, as did District Attorney Holton. They denied that the resolutions were intended to be construed as an effort to bring about peace and harmony, but that it was to the best interest of the "masses" that this be done. Said a local Republican "President Taft had previously informed Mr. Morehead that he was going to carry out the policy embodied in the resolutions and they were passed simply for effect, because the bosses had no other choice unless they bolted Mr. Taft. By endorsing his administration and declaring for his renomination the committee hoped to get him to look with more favor on the endorsements sent in by Mr. Morehead. That's the whole thing in a nutshell."

The Duncan adherents meet here Monday and there is considerable speculation as to what they will do. It is doubtful if they will endorse Mr. Taft's policies or pledge to him their support in 1912. It is expected that the members will get their heads together and do a considerable lot of planning and it is probable that Chairman Morehead will get some big surprises as a result of their "New Year's Resolutions."

With the Juniors.

At last night's meeting of Greensboro Council, No. 13, Jr. O. U. A. M. one candidate was initiated and several applications received. There was a large attendance and the meeting was a most enthusiastic one. On next Thursday night the newly elected officers will be installed.

STOCKSDALE TO MANAGE PATRIOTS

Well Known Baseball Man Signed by President Brandt to Have Charge of Local Baseball Club During Coming Season—Will Arrive the First of March To Get the Boys in Line.

President L. J. Brandt, of the local baseball club has signed Mr. Otis Stocksdale, of Birmingham, Ala., to manage the Patriots during the coming season. He will arrive about the first of March to get the local team in practice, but from now on will be on the lookout for prospective players.

Manager Stocksdale is a baseball player of no mean ability, being a twirler of considerable reputation. He had held down the slab for the Memphis, Mobile and Birmingham teams in the Southern League, making a good record on the mound. But it is as a manager that he excels. He has coached the Trinity team for four seasons, having a champion team each year. He also coached Carolina for two seasons, and during his stay at the Hill the Tar Heel team was in winning shape.

He has shown conclusively that he knows baseball players when he sees them and also knows how to produce the best results by a thorough organization and a strict discipline. He uses methods that meet the approval of every honest player and in this way induces every man to put forth the best there is in him. President Brandt is highly eleated over his good luck in securing Mr. Stocksdale as manager and is confident of winning the rag once more.

There is little doubt but that the Carolina Association will be practically as it has been for the past two seasons. The salary limit has been reduced, but there is no reason why just as good ball should not be had as during last season.

OUTDOOR CURE FOR ELKINS

Determined Effort to Be Made to Overcome Stubborn Illness.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 29.—In an effort to recover from the illness which has prostrated him for months, Senator Elkins, of West Virginia, is to try the open-air treatment, and will brave the rigors of wintry nights, sleeping out of doors.

On the roof of his K street home the Senator is having a sleeping compartment built, and expects to be able to stay out of doors altogether within a few days. His physicians expect rapid improvement from the new regime. Senator Elkins has been confined to his bed for weeks and his deferred improvement has caused his family much concern. His outdoor bedroom will be an improvement on the ordinary tent used for outdoor sleeping. Although it will be open on three sides it is to be comfortably fitted up and it will have rather the appearance of a luxurious bedroom than a sleeping tent.

The Senator's illness is graver than was at first supposed and his condition has given his family much alarm.

FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT.

Judge Eure Sends Henry Martin To Roads For Twenty Days For Being Drunk in Court.

There were few cases in Municipal Court yesterday morning, none of these being of any consequence. Walter Hester was charged with carrying concealed weapons, the case being continued until this morning.

Henry Martin was sentenced to the roads for twenty days for contempt of court. On Wednesday Martin was summoned to appear as a witness in a case and when he was called to the stand to testify he was in an intoxicated condition. Judge Eure ordered him locked up until yesterday morning's session in order that he might get sober when he sent him to the roads, thinking it might equal the celebrated liquor cures although it is a much less expensive treatment.

ESCAPED CONVICT

John Freeman, Escaped From Georgia Prison, Being Taken Back.

Sheriff Nunn, of Lenoir county, arrived in the city yesterday with an escaped convict from Georgia, John Freeman by name. Freeman was convicted 19 years ago for killing his wife and was sentenced for life, but escaped five years ago. He got on a spree at Kinston and was recognized by some one who happened to know something of his record. Communication was held with the Georgia authorities and arrangements made for his return. He is in the temporary custody today of Jailer Apple and will be taken to Atlanta on the early morning train.

A CONVENIENCE TO TRAVELERS

Improved Facilities at Passenger Station.

Third Assistant Agent Provided and Ticket Office Is Now Open All Day—With Extra Help and More Room, Agent McGlamery Is Prepared To Give Prompt Service To All Patrons—Public Will Be Pleased.

Passenger and Ticket Agent W. H. McGlamery, of the Southern Railway, has been provided with a third assistant agent in the person of Mr. E. E. Smith, formerly of Raleigh, and the ticket office is now kept open all the time from 6:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. As has been before stated, the office has been greatly enlarged in size. With extra help and more room, Mr. McGlamery is prepared to take care of the traveling public in great style.

Some time ago the Chamber of Commerce took up with the Southern Railway officials the matter of reopening the uptown ticket office, which was closed some years ago. The decision to keep the down town office open at all times during the day was equally acceptable to the Chamber of Commerce and is regarded as a happy solution of the problem.

Agent McGlamery has for quite a while been urging that this step be taken and that he be given extra help in order that the great volume of passenger business done here might be handled to better advantage and with less of strain on the force, which has been badly overworked.

It is believed that the Southern will be warmly commended by the public for the progressive step that it has taken in this connection. The officials of the Chamber of Commerce are greatly pleased with the action of the Southern.

Previously the ticket selling force has at times been so crowded with work that it could not answer telephone calls, but under the new arrangement telephone calls are being answered promptly. Mr. McGlamery states that needed information can always be had either over the telephone or at the window. Persons can buy their tickets a day ahead if they like and thus avoid the rush at the window just before the departure of trains.

MAYOR'S FUN COSTLY

Price Cheap, Jolly Good, He Says, For Enjoyable Honor.

Detroit, Dec. 29.—Mayor Philp H. Breitmeyer, who retires from office on January 1, was asked today in what light he now viewed his policy of making his office a universal social club during his two-year incumbency, and how much it had cost him. The Mayor's chief object seems to have been to be a jolly good fellow to everybody. He has given banquets and other entertainments galore, and the invitations to the same have been sent out with a free hand.

The mayor said he had kept no account whatever of what it had cost him, but when different figures were suggested to him he admitted that it might have been in the neighborhood of $40,000.

"Do you think the fun was worth the price?" he was asked.

"Young man," he replied. "I would have paid just three times as much for the honor of being Mayor of a city like Detroit. It has been a great experience. These have been the two happiest years of my life."

Y. W. C. A. RECEPTION.

Young Men Entertained Most Delightfully Yesterday Evening.

Last evening at the Y. W. C. A. rooms the young ladies of the association entertained the young men of the city. This was the first occasion of the kind ever held at the association, and it was indeed a most delightful one. Invitations had been sent out through the Baraca classes of the city, and scores of young men were there, and young women too. The rooms were beautifully decorated, there was appropriate and seasonable music, refreshments and feasting, and altogether, the young men were given the time of their lives.

The next reception will be given tomorrow night, when the young women employed by Seidenburg & Co. will be entertained.

HOW TO CURE RHEUMATISM

It Is An Internal Disease And Requires An Internal Remedy.

The cause of rheumatism and kindred diseases is an excess of uric acid in the blood. To cure this terrible disease this acid must be expelled and the system so regulated that no more acid will be formed in excessive quantities. Rheumatism is an internal disease and requires an internal remedy. RUBBING with Oils and Liniments WILL NOT CURE, affords only temporary relief at best, causes you to delay the proper treatment, and allows the malady to get a firmer hold on you. Liniments may ease the pain, but they will no more cure Rheumatism than paint will change the fiber of rotten wood.

Science has at last discovered a perfect and complete cure, which is called Rheumacide. Tested in hundreds of cases, it has effected the most marvelous cures; we believe it will cure you. Rheumacide gets at the joints from the inside, sweeps the poisons out of the system, tones up the stomach, regulates the liver and kidneys and makes you well all over. Rheumacide strikes the root of the disease and removes its cause. This splendid remedy is sold by druggists and dealers generally at 50c. and $1 a bottle. In Tablet form at 25c. and 50c. a package. WHY WOMEN WORRY.

Lose Sense of Value in Looking After Details of Their Work.

Boston Herald.

Women, to their shame be it said, worry over little things. This is one reason why there are more cases of insanity among women than among men. Somehow, women lose their sense of values. Perhaps puttering around a stove and searching in tiny corners for dust blunts their remembrance of the bigness of the universe. Some evening, after a hard day, when the clothes would not sprinkle right, and the cake fell, and you tore the ruffle on your newest gown, and you noticed a half dozen gray hairs in your head and a fly that you couldn't catch, no matter how hard you might try, buzzed about your ears till you were frantic—some evening, after some hard day, when all these monumental horrors crowd thick and fast upon you, go out in the street and look up. You will see in the sky those shiny things called stars. Let your mind saunter among them for a bit, down the spangled Milky Way into the brilliant Dipper, across to glittering Orion. Ponder for a minute on the giddy vastness of that speck of the universe which we see on the rolling, rushing universes beyond our vision, on the orderliness of that march of suns and moons and worlds so swift and so serene, on the unthinkable distances that separate us from the stars and the stars from each other, on the unutterable majesty of the power which holds all this in its grasp.

Then go back to the house and worry about your fallen cake if you dare.

Only, in your zeal to avoid worrying don't begin to worry for fear you'll begin to worry.

A Simple Safeguard for Mothers.

Mrs. D. Gilkeson, 326 Ingles Ave., Youngstown, Ohio, gained wisdom by experience. "My little girl had a severe cold and coughed almost continuously. My sister recommended Foley's Honey and Tar. Since then I always keep a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar in the house. Accept no substitutes. Howard Gardner.

Its the best medicine I ever saw or heard of." For coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup, hemorrhage-all bronchial troubles, it has no equal, 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Note to Head of the Family!

To the Head of the Family:

Let one of your New Year's resolutions be to relieve your wife of as much drudgery as possible. Why use longer the dangerous and unclean oil lamp when you can get electricity? Use the modern illuminant! Convenience and time considered, it's just as cheap.

A CLEW

By ALLAN G. LAMOND

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

We were working very hard at the factory, few of us getting away before midnight. One evening I went to sleep at my work, and the foreman told me to go home and to bed. It was 9 o'clock and there was little chance of the others getting away till 11. Going to the coat room, I took down my overcoat, put it on and, thrusting my hand into a pocket for my gloves, pulled out a package done up in brown paper. Unrolling it, I saw a thick layer of bank bills.

I looked about me and, seeing that I was alone in the room, rerolled the package and put it back in my pocket. Having taken this precaution instinctively, I began to consider the situation. It was evident that a mistake had been made. But what mistake? Had the owner of the bills been inadvertently using my coat and put his money in my pocket, thinking it was his own, or had he thrust them in hurriedly as it hung on the hook? Were they his own, or had he come by them dishonestly?

Here a new idea came to me. He might have stolen the bills and put them temporarily where they would not compromise him. If so he would probably come for them.

Young as I was, I recognized the importance of the matter. I might appropriate the money to my own use. I had no intention of doing so. A dread came to me that if the money had been stolen and it were found in my pocket I would have to go to state prison.

I decided quickly what I would do and did it at once. I carried the coat into the counting room, where I found the treasurer of the company, Mr. Humber, and handed him the package. He opened it and his eyes at the same time, counted the bills and quick as a flash said to me: "Go hang your coat where it hung before. But stop a moment. The package filled with ordinary paper must be in it. There; that will do. Now carry the coat back, hang it up and take position where you will be hidden and watch and see who takes the property. I don't wish to have any one else in the secret at present and rely upon you to be watchful. These notes have been stolen from this office, and it is of the utmost importance that we discover the thief."

I ran back with the coat, put it on its hook among a number of others and, ensconcing myself behind a door opening against a corner of the room, stood ready for the spying. I soon tired of standing and took a seat on the floor, there being just room enough for me to sit.

An hour passed, and, though several persons came in for their coats, none took mine. Then there was a long interval, during which no one came. Before that interval was broken I had fallen asleep. Awaking with a start, I looked for my overcoat. Running to it, I thrust my hand into the pocket where the dummy had been put.

It was impossible for me to face Mr. Humber that night. Taking the overcoat with me, I went home to find my mother and sister waiting for me. They were both very much troubled at my appearance and greatly excited when I told them the story.

I went to bed, but all desire to sleep had been driven out of me. I remained awake till dawn, and my mother awakened me half an hour later.

"Get up, my son," she said. "We have a clew to the thief."

I sprang out of bed, dressed and after swallowing a cup of coffee went to the factory. When Mr Humber saw me he looked relieved.

"I thought you had failed me," he said.

I told him the story of my going to sleep on watch. Then I added:

"My sister found a clew in the pocket of the coat last night after I went to bed. She will not trust me with it after my carelessness last night, but says she will give it to any one you may send for it."

"I'll go myself," he said. "Come, show me the way."

I led him to my home, and a few moments later Maggie came down with a bit of white folded paper in her hand.

"Last night," she said to Mr. Humber, "after my brother had gone to bed I instinctively took up the coat and examined it thoroughly, thrusting my hand in every pocket successively. When from the right lower pocket, where he tells me the package was placed, I withdrew my hand I noticed a hair that had been caught between two of my fingers. Here it is."

She opened the paper very carefully and showed him the hair. It was a fiery red.

"Good!" said Mr. Humber. "I think that you might as well have shown me the thief."

He refolded the paper about the hair and went back to the factory.

Mr. Humber told me that I had been instrumental in saving the concern $2,000 and at the same time proved my honesty. He also said that the service would be recognized in time, but not till the thief had been discovered. Ten days later one of the clerks in his department with red hair was arrested. Sufficient auxiliary proof had been obtained to fix the guilt upon him. He finally confessed the theft, but as it was his first offense he was not prosecuted. I was given his place at a good salary.

Mr. Morehead got his party well beaten but he very naturally feels a reluctance to admit it by resigning.

Those resolutions spoke of "Republican recruits gained in the last election." If there were any recruits, there surely must have been a raft of desertions.

The resolutions for two terms for postmasters were not adopted until a violent effort had been made to pry the Raleigh postmaster out of his job at the expiration of one term.

When the Morehead people were "outs" they said the "ins" were an office-holding trust. Now that they are "ins" themselves they are themselves making a noise considerably like a trust.

The ticket office of the Southern will be open all day hereafter is the good news carried in the local columns today. This is just as good as an uptown ticket office. People don't object to the trouble of getting to the ticket office if they can be sure it will be open when they get there.

A GREAT AND A WORTHY UNDERTAKING.

According to Dr. A. R. L. Dohme, of the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, what the United States needs at present is, among other things, knowledge of the practice and applied principles of hygiene.

An extended and enlarged Johns Hopkins University at Homewood, near Baltimore, will seek especially and more thoroughly than any university has ever attempted before to disseminate the particular kind of knowledge mentioned.

Dr. Dohme said recently in a newspaper interview:

Hygiene as a theoretical science is well out of its swaddling clothes, and has been studied for many years. Its practical application to everyday life is only in its incipiency. People will, of their own free will, not be hygienic in anything they do, and this is in a measure due to the fact that they are not educated up to the necessity or desirability of doing so. When they are so educated, we will likely have laws which will make hygiene a part of our life.

We also know but little of the cause of epidemics and of their proper treatment, and in this particular we can learn much from the thorough study of epidemics and contagious diseases in the Hopkins school of hygiene. Much of our illness, in fact most of it, comes from contagion. Thus, our child comes down with scarlet fever, measles, tonsilitis, diphtheria, chickenpox, whooping cough or mumps, and we call them the diseases of childhood, and rest content with the belief that all children are expected to have them one or more times. As a matter of fact, no reason exists why they should contract these diseases, and if we know the cause of these contagious diseases, we surely can also evolve the means of preventing them; hence the necessity of our proposed school of preventive medicine just outlined.

Similarly we should not have young men and women in their best years stricken and carried off by typhoid fever, the grip, pneumonia, cholera, erysipelas, etc. We get them, and our fine and promising young men and women die of them in many cases. This can be prevented if we know their causation and promptly study its elimination. If this school of preventive medicine accomplishes its purpose, the aim of medicine will be directed largely toward hygiene and the killing of the cause of these diseases.

When epidemics come they usually find us unprepared to study them per se; our time and our attention in treating the disease they bring in their wake is occupied, and before we can equip ourselves to study them as we should, they have passed away. If we have this school always ready to fight and study epidemics, we can eventually nip them in the bud and prevent their ever reaching the blossoming stage. Of course, this cannot be done in a year or two and will require time for its development and growth, but the sooner we begin the sooner will we be able to cope with them and control them.

The extensive preparations that Johns Hopkins University is making to spread information concerning the application of the principles of hygiene are most encouraging. Every year thousands and thousands of lives are lost in this country through ignorance. This fearful drain with all it means of sorrow and distress must be ended. And its end will be materially hastened by the Hopkins school of hygiene.

The citizens of Baltimore are now engaged upon the gigantic task of raising the two million dollars necessary to move the institution to Homewood and to establish four great schools—preventive medicine (upon which the foregoing paragraphs touch), applied science, advanced law, education of teachers. Every person interested in the welfare of the human race will earnestly hope that Baltimore will succeed in raising the two millions needed.

EARTHQUAKE OBSERVATORIES

Weather Chief Moore Wants Them Established at Weather Stations.

Washington, Dec. 29.—A plan for a comprehensive system of earthquake observations at weather stations, through installations of seismograph at from ten to twenty stations, has been urged on Congress by Chief Willis L. Moore, of the weather bureau. There is already such an instrument at the bureau office at Washington and from another source, backed by scientific bodies, a movement has sprung up for the creation of a seismographic bureau at a cost of about $200,000 together with a proposal for a seismographic laboratory at the Smithsonian Institute.

Prof. Moore had advised the house committee on agriculture that if Congress will authorize the placing of these instruments in San Francisco and others of his stations, the government need for seismographic data can just as well be met by the weather bureau observers with almost no expense as against the inauguration of an elaborate separate seismographical bureau at great expense. He says it would not cost the weather stations over $500 per instrument, the buildings and observers being already under employ. Prof. Moore contends that every constructing engineer wants to know from what direction 'quake waves come, so that he can make his biuldings earthquake proof.

A NOBLE WORK

W. C. T. U. Visit County Home and Make Hearts Glad.

Yesterday afternoon the ladies of the W. C. T. U. held a service at the county home, conducted by Rev. E. C. Glenn. The service was most delightful and spiritually helpful, and the hearts of the old ladies of the home were gladdened beyond power of expression when they were presented with an abundance of fruit and other good things to eat. Toys, fruits, nuts, etc. were taken to the children, flowers were distributed to all, and the occasion will be remembered through life by the inmates as one of the happiest they have spent.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. desire publicly to thank Dr. Wheeler's Philathea class for toys and fruits for the children, Tatum & Taylor for hacks, and Mr. Paul Lindley for flowers.

NEW CABINET MAN.

Carmi A. Thompson, Who Has Accepted Post in Interior Service.

Chicago Record-Herald.

Carmi A. Thompson, who has announced his acceptance of the post of Assistant Secretary of the Interior, is at present Secretary of State of Ohio. Mr. Thompson was born in Wayne county, West Virginia, in 1870, the son of a coal miner. When he was still a boy his family moved to Ohio and he was educated at the Ohio University, where he supported himself. For a time he was City Solicitor of Ironton, Ohio, and twice he has been elected Secretary of State of Ohio, following a term as Speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives. He is a Republiacn.

He Sat.

It is related of the Rev. Matthew Clark that in the audience was once a young British military officer whose scarlet uniform far outshone any rival habiliments and so fixed the gaze of the young damsels present that the wearer, enjoying the impression he was making, not only stood through the prayer with the rest, but remained standing after all others had sat down until the pastor had proceeded for some time with his sermon, and at length, noticing a divided attention and its cause, the minister stopped, laid aside his sermon and, addressing his new hearer, said:

"Ye're a braw (brave) lad. Ye ha'e a braw suit of claithes, and we ha'e a' seen them. Ye may sit doun."

The lieutenant dropped as if shot.—From the "Autobiography of Horace Greeley."

Snubbed the Composer.

Gustav Mahler had a queer experience in Munich one day for which his name was partly responsible. His new symphony was being rehearsed, and he took advantage of an hour's intermission to get some fresh air. "On returning to the building," says a Munich paper, "he lost his way and tried to reach the hall through a corridor in which plasterers were at work. 'You cannot pass through here,' he was told. 'But I am Mahler.' (Mahler is the German for painter.) 'You look it,' was the unsympathetic reply of the man who blocked his way. 'We are not ready for the painters yet, so run on.' And the composer, realizing that argument would be useless, plunged into the labyrinth and finally reached his destination."

Camels In Arabia.

There are two varieties of camels in use in Arabia, the dromedary and the freight camel. The dhelul dromedaries are celebrated for their easy riding gait and speed. A dhelul carries about 300 pounds and travels about six miles a day. It can be purchased for 100 to 150 Maria Theresa dollars ($42.50 to $63.75). A freight camel carries about 500 pounds and travels about two and a half miles an hour. It costs 300 Maria Theresa dollars ($127) or more.

Not Idle Curiosity.

Mrs. Wanterknowe—I should like to know, Mr. W., why you are so cross when I ask questions. Surely you don't think I have idle curiosity?

"Great Scott, no! Yours is the most perniciously active, wide awake, sleepless, energetic curiosity it was ever my fate to encounter."

Another Version.

The latest rendering of the Burns lines, "Oh, wad some power," etc., is given in a London evening paper thus: "Oh, wad some power the giftie gie us to see some folk before they see us."

A MUNCIPAL OBJECT-LESSON.

Charlotte Observer.

Considerable interest attaches to the 1911 budget for the city of Columbia which has just been issued by the council. The commission form of government, as is well known, is in force in Columbia and the experiment is being watched with closest attention by many cities in this section which are considering similar changes in method of municipal administration. When Columbia's present commission took charge of the city's affairs they faced a deficit of approximately $65,000 bequeathed by previous administrations. "By the end of 1911," reports The Columbia State in a review of the budget, "Columbia will be out of debt besides having spent a large sum for permanent improvements. In detail the ordinance estimates the income for 1911 at $449,455 and the appropriations at $330,750, leaving a reserve fund of $118,705 which will be available for permanent improvements such as street paving, a new jail, an incinerator, etc."

This gratifying reserve fund has not been created by undue parsimony, as is evidenced by appropriations of $4,500 for new fire apparatus, $6,000 for extension of waterworks and proportionate amounts for other steps in advance. It is due chiefly to the excellent business sagacity which has been devoted to municipal finances. Credit should be given to the commissioners as well as to the system under which they are working but even when this has been done that $118,705 remains as an attractive object-lesson for communities which still retain the outworn aldermanic form.

POUND THEIR PASTOR.

Rev. J. W. Long Bounteously Remembered by His Flock.

Last night Rev. J. W. Long, pastor of the Spring Garden Street Methodist church was given a most delightful and substantial surprise, when his membership came in a body to his home bringing what they called a "pounding," but which in reality amounted to tonnage. "Never before," says the good minister, "have we been so bounteously remembered." There were, as soon as standing room could be cleared, a few appropriate speeches made in the spirit of the season and by way of expressing the love and good-will of the members for their pastor, and the occasion was one of genuine delight and happiness.

A Wise Tabby.

Miss Blanche Barnes, of Humphrey avenue, has a Maltese cat. Now, this cat has a family of three looking to her for support, although they are large enough to begin to take notice of passing game for themselves. Yesterday afternoon, pussy's larder being empty, she went out on the chase. Pretty soon she found a large rat, but it was securely housed in a trap. Making some effort to open the door and failing, she stopped, hung her head for a moment, caught an inspiration, and lifting trap, rat and all with her teeth, carried her game to the house and presented it to a member of the family, who assisted her to remove the difficulty.

PLAN PROGRAM FOR MEETING OF EDITORS

Committee From North Carolina Press Association Met Here Yesterday To Outline Program—Big Time Ahead For All Scribes Who Attend.

After spending two days, January 24-25, in Winston-Salem in business session, the members of the North Carolina Press Association will be taken to Charleston, S. C., on a pleasure trip, going as far as Wadesboro over the new Winston-Salem Southbound Railway.

The two days in Winston-Salem will be chock full of activity, for when the association is not in session, the members will be in the hands of the hospitable people of that city. The definite plans for neither the program nor for the entertainment feature have been worked out completely, though the plans were put in as definite a shape as possible at a meeting at the Huffine Hotel yesterday afternoon of Secretary J. B. Sherrill, of Concord, Mr. H. B. Varner, of Lexington; Mr. R. M. Phillips, of Greensboro; Mr. H. B. Gunter, of Winston-Salem, and Mr. S. P. Collier, Jr., of Winston-Salem. The last named gentleman is general freight and passenger agent of the Southbound and he assured the members of the committee that everything possible would be done for the comfort of the guests on the trip.

The meeting in Winston-Salem will last two days and will be interspersed with a barbecue, a sight-seeing trip, a smoker and a theatre party or a recital of some kind.

At present the plan is for the members to leave Winston-Salem, probably on a special train, over the Southbound on the morning of January 26, and to spend part of that night in Florence, S. C., as the guests of the Chamber of Commerce in that city. On the way stops will be made for a few moments at Lexington, Southmont, Whitney, Albemarle, Wadesboro and Cheraw. Lunch will in all probability be served at Albemarle.

The plans of the Florence Chamber of Commerce for the entertainment of the visitors have not yet been definitely formulated, but from letters that have been written to President H. E. Fries of the Southbound, it is certain that Florence will care for them in a way that will make them remember the town with pleasure.

Late Thursday night, probably, the editors will take Pullmans to Charleston, arriving there about 7 o'clock Friday morning. Charleston's plans for the entertainment of the Tar Heel editors have not been made yet, but it is certain that true South Carolina hospitality will be the order of the day. Even yesterday, while the meeting was in progress, a telegram was received from a prominent gentleman at Charleston, asking that arrangements be made to visit Charleston by all means.

The return trip will be made as quickly as possible, so that the editors may get back to their work. Arrangements will be made so that most of them will reach their homes by Friday night, and all will be "on the job" once more by Saturday morning.

The program for the business sessions at Winston-Salem and for the entertainment of the editors there and along the line will be announced as soon as they can be more definitely fixed.

BANKS ON TARIFF BOARD

Taft Expects It to United Insurgents and Regulars in March to Victory.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 29.—About his plan for the establishment of a permanent Tariff Commission President Taft's hopes for the future of himself and of the Republican party are twining luxuriantly. He believes the contest which he means to lead for establishing the commission will have the effect of materially narrowing the chasm which now yawns between the progressive and reactionary wings of the party, if indeed it does not ultimately reunite the warring elements into a compact and harmonious whole.

Such a commission he has been promised at the present short session by no less personages than Representative Payne and Senator Aldrich, and Nick Longworth has drawn up a tentative plan.

The founding of a permanent Tariff Commission was originally a progressive Republican idea which just happened to be caught up by the President. He committed himself to it at first, probably, without much thought or study of what the idea involved. Later it afforded him a very welcome avenue of escape from the tangle caused by the passage of the Payne-Aldrich bill and the bitter controversy precipitated in the party by leading provisions of that measure.

As the situation now stands the President sees in the agitation for the founding of a Tariff Commission with indefinite tenure and ample powers, a golden opportunity to get the progressive and reactionary Republicans together fighting for a common object, with himself at their head.

The whole progressive contingent in both Senate and House are for the Commission and for a revision of the tariff schedules based on its findings, as reported from time to time. To the progressive advocates of the Commission idea have been added since the present session of Congress began such reactionary leaders as Lodge, of Massachusetts, and even Aldrich himself. These accessions lead the President to hope that in time the entire reactionary element of the party will be brought into line for establishment of the permanent commission and that the united party will be backed by the great business interests of the country.

A great organization of Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade and other commercial and industrial bodies, known as The Tariff Commission League, will hold a convention in Washington early in January, and it is expected that at least 500 delegates will be present, representing all sections of the country and all lines of trade and industry. The aim of the organization is to bring pressure to bear on Congress to pass the necessary legislation for the establishment of the Commission, in the hope that by this means the tariff may to a degree be taken out of politics and tariff revisions in the future be robbed of the errors they have heretofore inspired in the business world.

ENGLISH CRAZE FOR INSURANCE.

Every Conceivable Thing From a Broken Heart to Cat Insured.

Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Hearts, fingers, eyes, and even the family cat are being insured in England nowadays. "Yes, of course," says Lloyds, the big insurance combine, "we insure cats. A cat is a fine risk. Why, everyone konws a cat has nine lives."

Insurance against death, fire and accident is common enough. Insurance against broken hearts, marriage, triplets and other so-called catastrophies is rather new.

But insurance against broken hearts! "Impossible," declare the incredulous. Well, read this:

A titled Englishman wishes his son and heir to marry. He goes to Lloyds and gets insurance that his son will marry. Sometimes he wants insurance that it will be a chorus girl. His son finally becomes engaged. If it is to a rich American girl the whole family often wakes to the terrible independence of that liberty-loving person and several policies may be taken out to insure that the son and heir shall not be jilted. Such policies are issued to father, mother, brother or sister. The prospective bride-groom often has one himself. And on it he may have to raise money before the wedding day.

If the rich girl marries him he pays his debts out of her millions. If she changes her mind and doesn't, then the insurance policy makes good and the tailors, jewelers and florists lose nothing.

And does this queer insurance stop when the title and the millions are finally married? Does it? It has only begun. Milord hikes him to Lloyds and gets insurance that there will be issue of the marriage. Gets insured that it will be a son. Gets insured that the son will live. Gets insured that he will reach his majority. And so on.

A father with several daughters on his hands gets insurance that they will marry. A funny part of issuing such a policy—or tragic, as the case may be—consists in the careful summing up of the girl's chances in matrimony. This falls to the lot of an old man, long in the business, who says a knowledge of psychology and physiology is necessary for this work. He sees each girl twice, for a half hour each time, talks with her, reads her. He meets her at some social function and the girl doesn't know who he is. That is, if the father keeps to his agreement she does not.

But if the father puts the girl "next," the wonderful old man, with an almost Sherlock Holmes ability to fathom deceit, reports to Lloyds, and not for love nor money will papa be able to get a policy written now.

Not all Englishmen approve of large families. Those who do not sometimes get insured against such calamity. Some get insurance that they will not have a child. Some get insurance that they will not have twins. Some men, naturally pessimistic, want insurance against triplets. The two latter kind of insurance are often taken out after the stork has announced that he is about to make a visit.

Before such policies are issued Lloyds gets reliable data on the number of double or treble births on each side of the house. And the premium is large or small accordingly. In one year four wise English families had reason to think the stork might deal bounteously with them took out policies against triplets. In each case there was a history of triplets on one side or the other of the house. Only one family had then. And the insurance was considered enough to clothe, feed and educate three very fine boys.

The Famous Rayo

The Lamp with Diffused Light

should always be used where several people sit, because it does not strain the eyes of those sitting far from it.

The Rayo Lamp is constructed to give the maximum diffused white light. Every detail that increases its light-giving value has been included.

The Rayo is a low-priced lamp. You may pay $5, $10 or even $20 for other lamps and get a more expensive container—but you cannot get a better light than the Rayo gives.

This season's Rayo has a new and strengthened burner. A strong, durable shade-holder keeps the shade on firm and true. Easy to keep polished, as it is made of solid brass, finished in nickel.

CUTS UP CHRISTMAS GEEGEE.

Santa Claus Didn't Know Shetland Pony From a Hobby Horse.

Pittsburg Press.

Five-year-old Harry Faulkner, of the North Side, ordered a real live Shetland pony of Santa Claus, whom he saw on a street corner. Instead he got a bright red hobby horse. Among other presents was also a keen-edged hatchet. Yesterday morning he was up early before the rest of the family. He gazed at the Christmas tree and its spangles, then at his "pony," and immediately the hatchet was put into action.

He hacked the tree until it lay spread upon the floor. Then he turned upon the "pony" and desisted only after it lay in chips and splinters about the room. This done he sat down in a corner and cried because Santa Claus did not know the difference between a pony and a hobby horse.

Police Sergeant Charles Faulkner, the boy's father, gave him a "private hearing," but has "reserved decision."

Take Care!

Remember that when your kidneys are affected your life is in danger. M. Mayer, Rochester, N. Y., says: "My trouble started with a sharp shooting pain over my back which grew worse daily I felt sluggish and tired, my kidney action was irregular and infrequent. I started using Foley's Kidney Pills. Each dose seemed to put new life and strength into me, and now I am completely cured and feel better and stronger than for years." Howard Gardner.

Blobbs—"The Wigwags have only been married a year, and now they are separated. Do you thing Wigwag did everything to make her happy?" Slobbs—"Sure. He even bought her ticket to Reno."

Boys you have a chance now to win the bicycle. One half of the Mother's Joy has been sold, at the Greensboro Drug Co. We are going to give two watches also, one to the next highest boy's sales, and one to the third highest, and the bicycle to the highest. Greensboro Drug Co.

BURN YOUR BRIDGES.

When All Retreat Is Cut Off, Then You Must Go Ahead.

Young men often make the mistake when they start on an important undertaking of leaving open a way of retreat if things go too hard, says Orison Swett Marden in Success Magazine. No one can call out his greatest reserves, do the greatest thing possible to him, while he knows that if the battle gets too hot he has a line of retreat still left open. Only when there is no hope of escape will an army fight with that spirit of desperation which gives no quarter.

Many a great general in his march on the enemy has burned his bridges behind him, cut off his only possible retreat, for the bracing, encouraging effect upon himself and his army, because he knew that men only call out their greatest reserves of power when all retreat is cut off and when fighting desperately for that which they count dearer than life.

We are so made that as long as there is a chance to retreat, as long as there are bridges behind us, we are tempted to turn back when the great test comes.

"Will you hold this fort?" asked General Rosecrans of General Pierce at Stone river. "I will try, general." "Will you hold this fort?" "I will die in the attempt." "That won't do. Look me in the eye, sir, and tell me if you will hold this position." "I will!" said General Pierce, and he did.

Wants To Help Some One.

For thirty years J. F. Boyer, of Fertile, Mo., needed help and couldn't find it. That's why he wants to help some one now. Suffering so long himself he feels for all distress from Backache, Nervousness, Loss of Appetite, Lassitude and Kidney disorders. He shows that Electric Bitters work wonders for such troubles. "Five bottles," he writes, "wholly cured me and now I am well and hearty." It's also positively guaranteed for Liver Trouble, Dyspepsia, Blood Disorders, Female Complaints and Malaria. Try them. 50c. at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

A Strange Case.

"I hade a discovery of queer coincidences lately."

"What was it?"

"In the poultry journal you mention, it was a henpecked poet, egged on by need of cash, who wrote that lay about the setting sun."—Baltimore American.

SANTA AT WESTMINSTER

Entertainment For Little Folks Most Enjoyable Affair.

Santa Claus came to greet the children of Westminster Presbyterian church last night, but was a little belated, having sent word that on account of his having entered into an investigation of the credentials of Messrs. Cook and Peary who claim to have discovered the pole a few miles north of his home region, he would not be able to reach Greensboro earlier than nine o'clock. So good teachers and officers of the Sunday School arranged a program of songs, recitations, etc., for the children who were to assemble for his reception and ovation, and they acquitted themselves in every way worthy of the great occasion. Miss Smith, of Greensboro Female College, also attended and favored the audience with one of her charming recitations and the male quartet sang an interesting and appropriate number; but the most charming and beautiful of all the selections was a song by little Miss Morrison, a child about three years of age, who thoroughly cativated her audience.

Santa Claus arrived exactly on time and announced the result of his investigations in the Cook-Peary controversy; namely, that neither of the gentlemen had succeeded in reaching the pole.

The house was filled, all the children were there, including the members of the cradle roll, they were given the time of their lives.

Tonight another entertainment will be given by the older members of the Sunday school.

SAY IT IS BLACKMAIL

Indictment of a Greensboro Physician Is Thus Described.

A pure case of blackmail is the way the attorneys for Dr. A. E. B. Alford characterize the indictment of that physician by High Point parties for seduction under promise of marriage. They believe they will have no trouble in establishing Dr. Alford's complete innocence.

The individual whom Dr. Alford is charged with having wronged is Miss Eugenia Ingram, who resides five miles from High Point. The warrant was sworn out by her father, Jack Ingram, and is returnable today before Justice of the Peace Lovelace, of High Point.

It is alleged by the Ingrams that the offence mentioned was committed six years ago and the long time that has elapsed since then is pointed to as one of the evidences that the charges are trumped up.

It is stated by Dr. Alford's attorneys as a further indication that the prosecution is for purposes of blackmail that it was recently suggested to him that he could avoid an exposure of the matter by the payment of $500.

His attorneys are A. Wayland Cooke, T. J. Shaw and F. P. Hobgood, Jr. The attorneys for the prosecution are G. S. Bradshaw, of Greensboro, and W. P. Ragan, of High Point.

Charged With Assault.

Will Mitchell and John Mesley were arrested by the police yesterday afternoon on the charge of assaulting R. F. Snyder. The defendants will be arraigned before Judge Eure this morning, at which time the facts in the case will be brought out.

to ask a friend to do you a favor when it is impossible to secure the favor in any other way. But why ask a friend to go on your bond as surety when the Greensboro Loan & Trust Company can give better security than an individual at no extra cost for its faithful discharge of its duty as a trustee or executor or administrator. Why should you sign a bond by which your "heirs, executors, administrators and assigns are held and firmly bound" to pay for the default of others; perhaps after your death, every dollar of your estate? Tell your friend not to burden you with such a grave responsibility. Let the Greensboro Loan & Trust Company become responsible.

Talk this over with us—it will assist you.

Plans for the New Year

Your plans for the New Year will not be complete unless you have arranged for proper banking service. You should have a general account, subject to check, for handling the money that you use for current expenses. Then any money that you are not going to use immediately ought to be deposited in a Savings Account where the money will earn interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum compounded four times a year.
